TESTIMONIALS.
From Mr. JOHN J. MAHON, Capilla del Señor, June 29, 1881.—The dip which you sent me I used according to directions, and I can assure you that it gave the desired result. During four years of practical experience of curing scab in sheep, I have seen many specifics used, and I consider Gilliard's the only one that gives complete satisfaction. It improves the quality and promotes the growth of the wool. For efficiency, economy and facility of application, I prefer it to any dip I have used.
From Mr. JAMES M. THOMAS, Estancia Santa Ines, Monte, June 29, 1881.—Having given a good trial to Gilliard's Dip, I have much pleasure in bearing my testimony to its valuable quality as a Sheep Dip. It destroys all insect life with which sheep are infected, mixes readily in cold water, does not injure the hands, and softens all hard parts. I shall strongly recommend it whenever an opportunity offers. As regards the cheapness, it should command a good sale.
By using GILLARD'S SHEEP DIP the outlay will be repaid One Hundred-fold by the Improved Condition of the Sheep, and the increased Weight and Quality of the Wool All Sheep owners should therefore try the experiment, if only on a small Flock.
NOTE—A sample drum will be supplied gratis to any Estanciero who is willing to give the Dip a fair trial and report on same

FOUNDERING OF THE PILCOMAYO.

Nothing could be more calculated to benefit the port of Buenos Aires and its surroundings than the sad accident to one of our best Argentine war vessels, the Pilcomayo. the particulars of which we give hereunder.

Many years ago the dangers of this port became so apparent, even to the Government, owing to the scattered profusion of old sunken anchors at every point in both outer and inner Roads, that a contract with the late Capt. Harrison was concluded for the removal of those snares to our shipping. Capt. Harrison worked hard at his job for years, and astonished the amphibious public of Paseo Julio with the number of old anchors he dragged up and ranged along the washerwomen's shore.

In our innocence of such matters, we shared with a too credulous public the conviction that every old anchor in the port had been removed, and that at last there was an end to the 'hechos locales' of 'another vessel gone down on a sunken anchor,' but the foundering of the Pilcomayo in broad day-light, within a stone's throw of the Catalinas mole, with the Port Captain and War Minister looking from the windows of their offices at the sinking ship, impotent to save her, is indeed a lesson long to be remembered in our Port Annuals, and a solemn warning to the Government of the abandoned and shocking state of what is termed the port of Buenos Aires. A neglect all the more inexcusable since at times the river runs so very low that the sandy bottom is exposed to view for miles and miles.

The importance of this fortuitous accident can be better understood by supposing that instead of the Pilcomayo it was an American barque that had foundered, and instead of the War Minister and Port Captain having to look for pumps, engines, divers etc, it was one of our popular consignees upon whose shoulder fell all the burthen. Ship captains and owners may indeed congratulate themselves on the mishap; the port will now be cleared of all those maritime snares, else 'quien sabe' what will become of our new iron-clad 'Almirante Brown?' The following are the details of the disaster—

Early on Saturday morning the rumour ran that the National gunboat Pilcomayo, anchored some few squares from the passenger mole, had gone to 'Davy Jones's locker.' Thereupon there was a general move molewards. Several hours elapsed before any one really knew what had happened, but about 2 o'clock Captain Felberg, who commands the gunboat, sent an official report to the Navy Department to the effect that his vessel had sprung a leak while at anchor and that the water was fast gaining on her. The War Minister took immediate steps and ordered every officer, man and boy in the 'Comandancia' to 'stand by.' Twenty of the Capitania's men were the first to shove off to the sinking ship, with a pumping engine.

Strange to say, although the rumour of the mishap was flying about the beach long before noon, those on board seem to have only taken official notice of it at 1 o'clock p.m. The river was lower on Saturday than known for years, and the North East wind made the shallow water very choppy. The Pilcomayo was riding at the usual anchorage ground of the war vessels. The wretchedly neglected state of what, as Captain George Cuttle says, 'we are pleased to call our port' was the cause of the accident. One hundred projects for cleaning and clearing it have been from time to time proposed, talked over, and consigned to oblivion. The Pilcomayo was, unfortunately, riding right over a sunken anchor, and with the fall in the river went smack on one of its flukes and opened a big hole in her hull, just under the powder magazine; the choppy sea making matters worse by continually bumping her on the anchor. Soon the whole larboard hold of the vessel was full of water; the pumps were set going at full speed, but the water gained on them rapidly.

Signals of distress were then made to the other vessels of the squadron and boats went off from the iron-clad Plata and gun vessel Urunguay, one of them carrying a hand pumping engine. The Captains of both vessels went with them. In spite of all this the water still gained and began to rise to the forecastle. Then the task of lightening her was begun and the ammunition and other things were swung into two lighters alongside.

It was 4 o'clock when this work was completed, yet it had no effect, and as yet the exact seat of the injury had not been ascertained. Commodore Py, Colonel Soler, and several other officers were by this time on board. As evening was falling somebody was struck with a 'happy thought' of sending for divers, and the Talita was despatched full speed for another pumping engine No machine of this kind was to be had at the Capitania, and the Cabildo clock was striking 10 p.m. when the Talita started with one kindly lent by Messrs Corti and Riva. About 11 o'clock this was got on board, the vessel being aground in 8 feet of water. Anchors were cast out fore and aft to keep her as steady as possible. Meanwhile it was not till 2 o'clock in the morning that Corti and Riva's engine was got to work and it told immediately on the water. The river rose gradually; steam was got up, and the maimed ship's head was turned for the San Fernando Dock. When off Belgrano it was found that the river was falling again, and that there was not water enough to admit of entering the dock, so the hole, the locale of which the divers had now found, was temporarily stopped up and the vessel again came to anchor.

Commodore Py, Major Soler, and all the other officers remained on board all night. The hole in the vessel's hull is about a foot long, and the old anchor that opened it is supposed to have belonged to the '25 de Mayo' which was lost in 1826, and whose hull had a black buoy floating over it until 1842.

The Patria Argentina tells the following story in connection with this black buoy: In 1840 this buoy saved General Paz and 17 other patriots who were getting out of the way of Rosas. They were escaping by night in a whaleboat of which Col. Somellera was in command: they had no compass and had to steer for Montevideo as best they could, and every precaution was taken, the boat being sculled, to avoid the sound of oars. When an hour out, they thought they were safe and gave a 'viva' for Libertad and B. Aires, when, just as the echo died away, Colonel S. saw a black object looming straight ahead, which he thought was a boat. All in the boat prepared their arms to sell their lives as dearly as possible, but on nearing the dark object it was found to be the buoy over the 25 de Mayo, thus showing the patriots that the current had carried them towards land while they imagined they were leaving it. After a night and day of tremendous exertion and anxiety General Paz and his companions reached Montevideo in safety.

DR. V. G. QUESADA'S BOOK.

We have been favoured with a copy of Dr. Quesada's book on the Chilian Question. This voluminous work comprises 654 pages of irrefragible proofs of Argentine titles to Patagonia. It is not as large as Ammategui's huge and indigestible compilation of dry arguments in favour of Chile, but it is plainer, clearer and more to the point. Only those who review and study those ponderous works can accurately judge of the labour entailed, and can fitly sympathize with the tear and wear of brain of the authors. Ammategui's efforts and labours, in a moral point of a view, baffle the torture of Sysiphus, and if Chile is in any way grateful, she should erect a statue to him and to the man who can summon up courage to read his Chilian defence. Dr. Quesada, happily, has selected a happy medium, and his book is 'multum' and not 'multa.'

Verily, it is difficult to keep patience with unjust pretensions, when we see and comprehend with Dr. Quesada the futility and interested motives of all Chilian claims to Patagonia. That the claims of Chile are false every document in the work amply proves, and the reader needs no diplomacy to see what is right and what is not. If documents, instead of diplomatists, were resorted to in these perennial problems, the solution would have been found long ago. Diplomacy muddled everything, and it is owing to the plain common sense of the American Ministers that the final treaty has been adjusted. Thus, it would appear that Dr. Quesada's work just steps in as an unexpected epilogue to the much-vexed question.

Amongst the many proofs brought to bear on the justice of the Argentine claims in this work we notice one circumstance, or rather coincidence, that speaks for itself. It is well known that the Spanish Government named several Viceroys to the River Plate who had recently been Presidents-Generals of Chile. It is to be supposed that these Chilian Presidents-General well knew the limits of the jurisdiction of Chile when in their official documents, as Viceroys, they corroborate the Argentine possession of Patagonia. Only infatuation can be blind to these facts. Even O'Higgins, in a letter to an Argentine Viceroy, plainly determines the limits of Chile, just before the collapse of Spanish authority in South America.

Besides these incontrovertible facts, we find that the Archbishop of Buenos Aires exercised his jurisdiction down to the very Straits. In fact, in 1810 the Chilians never dreamt of the Straits, never thought of any Chilian territory twenty leagues beyond Valdivia. On the other hand, it is most remarkable to notice, that posterior to that date the Argentines, continually mixed in civil and foreign wars, lost sight of Patagonia, whilst it began to attract the notice and enterprise of Chile.

The latter circumstance, nevertheless, would argue in favour of the Chilian claim, since the Chilian and Argentine Governments, and South America in general, have agreed that all Limits Questions should be settled according to the 'uti possidetis' of 1810, and 'that on this continent there exists no land 'res nullins.' Our columns would be too short to follow the varied proofs in this important work. Whilst congratulating Dr. Quesada we admire the Roman patriotism that urged the author to undergo such labours and such efforts for the sake of his country. Patriotism works wonders, and all will agree with us when they cast one glance on the ponderous works that this Chilian Question has called to light; and, it is to be supposed, that the Argentine Government will not be slow in rewarding Dr. Quesada's labours.

AGRICULTURE IN CATAMARCA.

In the 'Agricultural Boletin' of this fortnight, its correspondent in Salta states that the results of late years unfortunately prove that the Province of Catamarca does not produce enough for the limited number of its population. It is a very melancholy fact when we consider that this province ranks one of the largest yet least populated in the Argentine Republic. As regards population, Catamarca occupies the ninth rank among Argentine provinces and it covers an area of 7,500 square leagues; there are smaller kingdoms in Europe. The province itself is rich and fertile, irrigated by very many arroyos; its physical aspect is imposing and picturesque; mountains, lovely valleys, and forests of valuable timber land give increased wealth to the territory. All kinds of fruits abound, and the cochinilla thrives, whilst the climate varies according to the locality and the height above the level of the sea. There are, no doubt, intermittent fevers, chucho, etc., in the province, but a little care in avoiding marshy vicinities, with anti-septic acids stem these evils; otherwise the province is very healthy and boasts a fine climate. The inhabitants are amiable and naturally polite. In fact everything to our knowledge conspires in favour of this province, and it is with unfeigned astonishment that we quote Mr. Schickendantz's assertion that the place does not produce enough for local consumption.

The wealth of Catamarca is extraordinary, at least it is supposed to be, as regards precious minerals. There are mines of copper, silver, gold, rock-salt and white and red-dish granite. Looking as far back as 1872 we note that the official statistics show exports of Catamarca in that year rose to a value of 1,158,505 fuertes; there are 182,000 head of cattle at least, 75,000 horses, and 200,000 or more goats and sheep. With such figures, such a climate and such natural advantages, it is hard to understand how two bad years suffice to prostrate the province.

The valley of Catamarca, 20 leagues long by 15 wide, is known for its extraordinary fertility; wheat thrives exceedingly well and the potreros are large. Viniculture flourishes also, and the wine produced is excellent. In fact every valley in the province of Catamarca boasts of a wonderful fertility, and if agriculture languishes, it is the fault of the Government and of the people. A country that can produce all the cereals in abundance, wine, cotton, tobacco, sugar-cane, mandioca, in fact every valuable species of the flora, can only be poor and destitute through lack of energy enterprise or an exceedingly bad Government. The latter defect is most probable since the inhabitants of Catamarca are known throughout the Republic for their industry in agriculture. Even the women are the most industrious in the country; they carried off all the medals in the Cordova exhibition for their embroideries, powder, and stuffs, made from cotton and vicuña wool.

The correspondent of the Boletin remarks that the agricultural capital of the province is small: that the rainfall amounts to a few inches per annum; and that vast tracts of otherwise fertile lands are stripped of all vegetation for the want of water, or simply devoted as pasturage lands to cattle for grazing purposes. It would hereby appear that the main want of the province is water. The Government should construct Artesian wells: the effects of such wells have been proved in Algeria by the French Government. The physical constitution of Catamarca augurs in favor of the Artesian wells, and, we believe, that some years ago they were mooted by the Government in that province but like many other things the whole affair fell through for want of means to carry the plan out. The inhabitants should begin tree plantations also; experience teaches that trees attract the rain and lessen its force when falling by their outspreading branches. The remedy for all the evils of Catamarca seems to lie in a well-regulated supply of water, which can be effected by Artesian wells, by changing the course of many arroyos and plantations of trees. With an Agricultural Department to guide the fortunes of the tillers of the soil, we hope that the remedy will soon be applied.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The accident to the Pilcomayo is a topic of general interest. We give particulars in another column. It is curious to see an old anchor, more than half a century under water, causing such an accident Commanders of vessels should be careful where they anchor in this treacherous river, which is as much given to sudden 'bajas' and 'subas' as gold, or National Bank Shares.

The letters in the Patria Argentina from its talented editor, Dr. J. M. Gutierrez, are now read by everybody. They are really splendid, and give a special interest to our colleague's columns.

The R.M.S. Tagus arrived yesterday, having run up from Montevideo by daylight, a rare occurrence, as steamers generally come up by night. Night or day they are always welcome. The Tagus does not bring much fresh news. The Turkish territory, ceded by Turkey to Greece has been handed over quietly. Things are not going so well with the French in Algeria; the whole country has revolted and the natives refuse to pay taxes. Great fire and damage at the railway station at Cette.

The French steamer Equateur sailed yesterday for Europe and took a very heavy mail. Amongst her passengers was Mr. Lapish, who was summoned last week to Pernambuco by telegram, by Mr. Frank Turner, contractor for the Conde d'Eu Railway, to assist in the construction of that road.

We saw the plan of the Continental Exhibition yesterday, and were most agreeably surprised to see such a splendid building. It will occupy nearly the whole of Plaza Once, the theatre being on Messrs. Duggan's side. The 'façade' reminds us of the Dublin Exhibition of 1853. After all the delays and disappointments, this Exhibition is likely to prove well worth waiting for.

'Carmen' will be produced to-night at the French Theatre for the first time. This operette had a run in Paris equal to that of 'Our Boys' or 'Pinafore,' in London.

There is nothing very new in Montevideo, except that Santos intends to turn out all the Gefes Politicos and put his own partizans in their places, and that there is to be another bull-fighting company brought out from Spain in the spring.

The rate at which the new estancias are being stocked may be estimated from the fact that since the 1st of January 45,000 head of cattle have been introduced into the partido of Lincoln, mostly from the interior provinces.

A colleague says that Governor Rocha will post the whole way in his intended trip to the South, as he wishes to see where railways and camp tramways are most required. His journey will extend to Chocl e-Chocl and last over a month. We hope he will drop in at San Blas Bay.

A morning colleague explains the recent marauding atrocities in the South by the fact that there in really no adequate garrison on the frontier line. From Puan to Lavalle there are 14 policemen and 2 officers, yet these 16 men have also to look after the Curumalan Sierras from Chacho to la Ventana, Pique and Pillahuinco. As some of these policemen are generally sick and others engaged in different duties, barely half of them are available for looking after the banditti, and they can only move about together, for fear of the Indians, deserters and vagabonds of all kinds roaming about in large gangs. The National troops down there must be largely increased in numbers if the settlers lives are to be made safe.

The Committer's Consolidation Bill passed a first reading in the National Deputies yesterday by eight votes. We second the motion of the Republica——Basta! Basta!

The handsome cup given by Pigon, Wilks and Laurence, the well known Powder Manufacturers, was shot for on Sunday at the Gun Club and was won by Mr D. Mackinlay, beating twenty other competitors He shot in excellent form, killing fifteen birds without a miss. He swears he will never use any other than Pigon's Alliance powder, and attributes his good shooting entirely to its use.

We are asked to notify in this column that enquiries are made at the Brit. Consulate tor John Jones, formerly of Tatay, William Block, alias Bartholomew, last heard of in 1866 at Laguna de los Padres, and Henry Abbey, of Birmingham.

H.M.S. Dwarf under command of Captain Bainbridge, passed through the port yesterday on her way from Concordia to Montevideo.

We have had the pleasure of a visit from the Rev. Dr. C Lennox Cunningham, who was until recently Protector of Immigrants in the Colony of New Grenada, and has for over 20 years been engaged in the direction, for the British Government of the incessant stream of emigration to Australia and other English possessions. Dr. Cunningham has kindly favoured us with a copy of his last report to the Imperial Government on Immigrants in the Colony of Grenada, before ill health forced him to resign. The facts and figures as to the Immigrant system, the allotments of land etc., there are highly interesting. Now that our Immigration system here has so thoroughly broken down, the National Government would do well to consult Dr. Cunningham in refereuce to its thorough reform; his visit here is quite a happy chance at the present juncture, and we believe he intends to remain some time in this country. Our contemporary the St. George's Chronicle of Grenada, thus refers to Dr. Cunningham's departure from that colony:—

"Dr. C Lenox Cunningham, Protector of Immigrants, is forced by ill health to relinquish his duties for an indefinite period, and will shortly leave for Europe. During the 18 months that this gentleman has directed the afiairs of the Immigration Office, we can safely say that things have got on well, no complaints having reached us, and both employers and employed seeming satisfied. Dr. Cunningham has continued on very fair terms with planters, to whom he addresses a friendly letter of farewell. Mr. Wm. Evan Haynes who is now discharging the duties of Harbour Master, will probably fill Dr. Cunniugham's place."

On Sunday afternoon Mr. Boet's 'Zoo' in the Calle Larga de Recoleta was inaugurated with great 'eclat' A numerous concourse had assmbled by the appointed hour, and after rambling over the garden and inspecting the almost endless ranges of cages containing many varieties of wild animals, the visitors were invited to partake of a magnificent lunch, which for richness of the dishes and excellence of the wines was never surpassed in this city. This garden is intended as a general 'rendez-vous' for the amusement of children, who will find it a perfect paradise.

We had a most unpleasant dream on Sunday night about rattlesnakes and Municipal Docks ('absit omen!) and the first thing we got yesterday was a present of the skin of a large 'cobra' from Paraguay, over three yards long, kindly sent to our Museum by Mr. Neville Fitzgerald, the well known shipping agent at the Boca. Who can explain dreams? We dream of snakes and docks, and slap comes a present of a snake's skin from the very spot where the docks are to be built. It's queer, passing queer.

At the Charity Ball at the Coliseum on Saturday night over 700 members of the 'elite' of Porteño society were present.

Letters from dramatic friends in Montevideo declare that the Grau French opera company now performing at the Solis Theatre is the greatest success ever seen in that city, the house being crammed to the ceiling every night. The Empresario has already made fortune No 2, having made the first in Rio although they would not allow him to play 'Mascotte' there. The company will be here some time this month, to play in the Colon Theatre.

Notices were posted up yesterday all over the city calling for 1000 to 1500 peones to work on the extension of the Tucuman Railway to Jujuy.

A family living in a hamlet called Lunes (Monday is a queer name for a village), in Cordoba, were frightened out of their wits and seven senses last week, owing to having breakfasted on milk from a cow attacked with hydrophobia. Weeping and praying and groaning of the most heart-rending kind went on till the doctor arrived, when he told them that the local Mr Mould's services would not be required, as they were in no danger. They all embraced him, and as the younger ladies of the family were rather good-looking, the man of drugs by no means objected to the shape of his fee, but he generously refused to take anything (at least in the same currency) from the old lady.

Dr. Sterling, Bishop of the Falkland Islands, officiated on Sunday at the Flores Chapel of Ease and preached a most impressive sermon. In a few days His Lordship leaves for the Alexandria Colony.

We welcome back this morning to dear old Buenos Ayres, Mr Frank Parish who was for so many years H.M's. Consul here. Did all his old friends go down to meet him the mole would not be large enough to hold them.

Mr. Kemmis's fine stalion Phœnix was landed yesterday from the Tagus. It is a magnificent animal.

There was a heavy fall of snow in Cordoba last Friday, and a Rioja 'arriero' who had lain down by the roadside, to sleep off the influence of his potations, was found dead next morning, covered with Heaven's winding sheet.

We read that Mr Benjamin Day, of Cordoba, has passed a most brilliant examination before the Medical Faculty of that city.

The news from Asuncion is that a Buenos Aires capitalist is now up there preparing to start a private bank and a yerba-mate plantation. A French company has, it is said, the National Bank in hand, with privileges, and it also undertakes to bring 500 emigrant families from Europe into the country every year.

There was a narrow shave of a blaze at the Lanus Deposits on Saturday, owing to a box of black merino catching fire, nobody knows how. A peon saw the danger, gave the alarm, and in five minutes the peril was past.

ON 'CHANGE.

	August 8th
Patacons	25.55
Cedulas A	100⅝
National Bank Shares..	115½

The week has opened with a dull gold, but an active, brisk Cedula and Share market. Gold dropped for cash and on time 5 cents, which in the present state of the market means much, as responsible parties are not over anxious to sell gold to the houses on time at present rates, the margin for profit being so small. The Bank is evidently determined to control the market by drawing exchange and taking up paper, but this market is perhaps the strangest in the world in this regard, for we all remember last year when the Bank drew in close on 200 millions of paper, and still it in nothing affected gold,and in fact was hardly felt on the market.

The first news on 'Change this morning was that late on Saturday the Bank Board had decided to raise the rate of interest to 7 per cent. This measure, however, was anticipated, as also the restriction of the discounts; both steps are taken to check the speculation in National Bank Shares, yet they so far have had no such effect.

Gold opened at 25.60; some 60,000 pats sold cash, of which 2,200, the last sale, sold at 25.55. For the end of month 35,000 pats sold at 25.50, and for the succeeding months of the year a small business done, 30,000 sold at 25.45. Total sales, 234,338, which, if split up the commissions amongst the brokers, would hardly pay their tramway fare from Flores.

But, if gold business is dropping to nil, the Bolsa is kept well alive with stocks and shares business., Cedulas seem at last to invite speculation for a rise, and all the brokers of the houses are buying; prices opened and closed firm for cash and to-morrow at 100⅝. 16,600 sold cash, orders to buy more were held, but could not be filled. For the end of month 35,000 sold at 100½ and 30,000 at 100⅝. For Sept. and Oct. 30,000 sold at 100. For to-morrow 26,000 sold at 100⅝, and for Dec. 31st 10,000 sold at 100. Total sales, 107,600, of which but 16,600 for cash.

National Bank Shares that every one thought on Saturday night were coming down by the run showed their real strength to-day, and prices advanced spite of the notorious fact that one large holder was selling out. The bears looked with certainty for a fall to-day, owing to the advance in the Bank rate and the heavy sales by the Share King, but they were mistaken, and 10,000 shares were marked on the board, and prices not only firm but rising. What seems very probable is that at present prices speculation will cool off and, perhaps, centre in the Cedula market, as with the least speculation the bulls might easily put Cedulas at 10 premium. Shares opened for cash at 115½, dropped to 115, rose to 116, and closed hard at 115⅝; cash sales, 772. For Aug. 13th 500 sold at 115½ to 116. For end of month 4,870 sold, opening at 115½, rising to 116½, and closing at 116. For Sept. 30th a very large business done, 4,085 shares sold, opening with a bang at 113 and closing firm at 114.

We have received notice from the Bank of change of interest from the 10th inst; it will be found in another column.

The debate in Congress on the Consolidation law is each day becoming hotter. Dr Goyena made a brilliant speech defending the Bank, and due to some severe remarks in antechambers has resigned his post as Director on the Bank board, but they say the Governor will not accept his resignation. We agree with the Republica in its remarks to-day, the bill has been sufficiently discussed and ought to be voted, as the prolonged discussion hurts the market.

The sale of Cedulas reported on Saturday at 99⅜ for end of year was a 'entregar.'

Good news for estancieros, Mr Casey will receive next month 110 Lincoln rams selected by him in Lincolnshire, and they will be sold by auction next month.

Mr Celestino Fernandez has sold 4 leagues of Government land at Puan, splendid camp, for 51,000 m|c per league, cost him 10,000 m|c a couple of years ago.

Everyone asks how many millions are going into telephone lines which cross and recross the tops of the houses; we believe the actual cost is about 3000 m|c p. square.

On Friday, the contract which we announced last week with Mr Bateman for the conclusion of the Improvement Works was signed by the Board.

Some brokers on Change stated that telegrams from London to-day announced a drop in Argentines.

The sales at the ring were—

Nat. Bank Shares—

For August 13th 500 shares 115½-116
For Aug. 31st 4,877 shares 115½-116
For Sept 30th 4,085 shares 113-114
Sales, 9,234.

The great news on 'Change was the passage of the first reading of the Consolidation Bill by the Deputies, only 8 votes 'en contra'. This means the voting in what is termed "EN GENERAL", now it will be discussed in detail; we have strong reasons to suppose it will be finally passed. The measure, of course, finds no favor on 'Change; all the brokers to a man are opposed to it, as it is framed to abolish forced currency. No wonder therefore when the news came on 'Change gold was pushed up.

The Hamburg and South American steamer Valparaiso will sail on 12th August instead of 10th as previously announced.

Gold at afterhours ruled very firm, buyers cash at 25.50, and for end of month at 25.50; not much done.

Cedulas in demand for cash, but not to be had under 100½.

National Bank Shares large transactions at afterhours, and prices knocked up and down at the will of speculators; the market finally closed firm at following rates—

FOR END OF MONTH at 117 buyers.
FOR END SEPT. 114⅜ buyers.

This shows that spite of everything this stock rules firm; many parties sold out to-day, but the market absorbed everything.

At Baltar and Quesada's auction to-day some fine English cows sold at 5.300 m|c each.

Mr O'Grady, of the South, was welcomed on 'Change; he reports great drought in the South and camps looking bad.

The clearance of the Equateur was the day's business. On the Mole-head there was a tremendous demonstration to see Mme. Borghi Mamo, Tamagno Ferrari and the whole opera troupe; they were accompanied to the Mole stairs by hosts of friends and admirers We noticed Mr. Larrazabal, the Italian Minister and other leading men. Mr Achilles Rodriguez left for Europe and was seen off by Mr. Tornquist. 'En fin,' it was a regular Mole-head day.

1500 dry matadero cow hides sold, 24 lbs., at 52 rls. This shows a rise of a real. At the Corrales novillos sold at 5.80 and hides at 160 per pesada.

We understand there is some mistake in the price published of Mr Kemmis's splendid horse on board the Tagus.

The Tagus arrived in port to-day at two o'clock, made the run up from the Mount in 9 hours, she brings 23 first class passengers, amongst whom Mr Frank Parish, Mrs Parish and daughter, Mr and Mrs Barker, Miss Josling, Mr Hector Mackern and his nephew Dr Mackern, son of Don J Mackern of this city. We welcome our young friend, who comes out from Europe with his full diploma of M.D.

The Bank only discounted to-day 850,000 m|c against 14 millions asked.

Exchange nil, bills over from Equateur mails, few takers.

All the Banks charged 7 for discount to-day few bills, and most business doing loans on stocks.

The London wool auction begins on 20th; we hear with 400,000 bales.

A large business in wool is pending at an average of 5 fcs.

Stocks in Montevideo, as we anticipated, very flat, no animation, and holders find it difficult to realize.

The following sales were effected on Saturday—

From Brazil we have the following important advices:—

"Under date of the 20th the Minister of Agriculture advised the Minister of Finance that the Compagnie Imperiale du Chemin de Fer de Rio Grande do Sul had organised in Paris to construct the Rio Grande and Bage Railway, forwarded its Statutes for approval, had sent out part of the engineering staff, and finally on the 4th of May solicited from the Imperial Government provision for paying, in accordance with the contract, the guarantee of interest on the paid up capital, viz:—5oo$ooo francs interest on ten million francs lodged on March 26th, 1881, and 651,024 francs interest on the remainder of the 43 per cent on the 13,521:453$ guaranteed by the decree of Dec. 11th, 1880. Wherefore, as the company has not only commenced and is at work, but has also realised 43 per cent of the total capital of about 38,242,648 francs, at par of 27d per $, he requests the Minister of Finance to order the Treasury agency in London to pay to the company in due time the interest due upon the paid up capital, not exceeding 43 o/o in the first year, at sight of certificates of deposit and after deducting accrued interest on the lodgments.

"On the 27th of June an interview took place in the Secretariat between the Minister of Agriculture and some coffee planters and exporters, when, after some discussion on agriculture and its needs, it was decided to promote annual exhibitions in Rio of coffee, to be afterwards transported to the principal consuming markets abroad, exhibited in them and then distributed. The Minister declared that the Government would assist such exhibitions, and give prizes to the best growers.

"A meeting of planters is, the Cruzeiro says, to be held at Leopoldina, in Minas Geraes, to combine for the introduction of labourers, and the general opinion of the planters appears to be in favor of Chinese.

"Orders have been given to the Imperial Institute of Agriculture to furnish as many seeds as possible of useful plants to farmers wishing to try new cultures and engaging to inform the Ministry of Agriculture of the results obtained.

"Through the Brazilian Legation in Lisbon two boxes of cuttings of the Inhambane sugar cane have been received from Mozambique and are to be propagated in the Fazenda Normal, where are growing 8 varieties from the Mauritius.

"Orders have been sent to Chile for a remittal of the best wheat grown there, for trial in Brazil.

"In supersession of the American-made postage stamps, printed in fixed ink, the Post Master has got the Mint to manufacture one million of 50, 100 and 200 reis stamps printed with ink that will not permit the stamp to be used a second time. The 50 reis stamps are light blue, the 100reis dark green, and the 200 reis a purplish pink.

"The alleged coal mines in the municipality of Ponta Grossa, in Parana, are being claimed by two rival discoverers."

We have received the following excellent letter for publication in this column:—

Buenos Aires, Aug. 8th, 1881

To the Editor of the Standard,

Dear Sir,

Every time when the cash reserve of the Bank of England declines to 45 o/o of the Bank note circulation, the rate of discount is at once raised; the long headed English financiers have established this system.

If the richest country in the world is afraid of running short of gold, England, to which nearly every civilised nation is indebted, what will our cash reserve [not to be confounded with capital] have to be, as instead of earning interests on foreign bonds and working foreign establishments with our money, our bonds are owned by other nations, and our commerce is carried on to a great extent with foreign capital.

Furthermore, many fortunes made in paper money are exchanged against gold and leave the country, as people generally do not settle here for life time, like in the U. States.

It is difficult to find the right figure, but it will not be disputed that it ought to be over the English minimum of 45 o/o, i. e. 15 million hard dollars being actually only 18 o/o, viz:—46|1o millions.

England's revenue being the interest on its capital and the net profits of its foreign trade depends on the general state of commercial affairs in the world; our income depends on the same, as by it prices of our produce are regulated. But, besides we are dependent on two things, viz:—1 the production of wool and hides in counties like Australia, California, Texas, &c.; 2 the weather.

The first of these two subjects would be too difficult to be judged by anybody who has not visited these countries lately, and the second is something proverbially uncertain.

As exports of wool did not increase as might be concluded from the great number of lambs which are born every year, the following calculation made in July 1877 may throw some light upon the matter:—

	Bales.
1876/77 a number of about 65 million sheep and 20 million lambs gave a clip of about	235,000
1876 the increase of the flocks by the lambing was about 30 per cent, viz: — 20 million lambs, the same will give about 1½ lb. more wool each than last year, equal 30 million pounds of wool	35,000
About	270,000
Seven million sheep and wethers died in consequence of the inundations; at about 4 lb. each will give a deficit of 28 million pounds of wool	33,000
About	237,000
The yearly export of sheepskins amounts to about 55,000 bales, deducting— 5,000 bls. for lambskins and 5,000 bls. for probable deficit in the killings of graserias remain 10,000 bls.
about 45,000 bls., representing at 200 skins per bale a killing and ordinary mortality of 9 million sheep for graserias, consumption, &c., or a quantity of 35,000 lbs. of wool, if shorn	42,000
About	195,000
This year's [1877] increase by the lambing about 10 o/o, i. e. 8½ million lambs at 2 lbs. each equal 17 million pounds	20,000
Estimated quantity about	215,000

N.B. The exact number of bales exported from October 1877 to September 1878 was 218,619 bales.

Since some of the newspapers have been painting things with rosy colours every native proudly speaks:—"El pais es rico, la diferencia en los precios de la lana sera cubierta por el gran aumento en las ovejas."

Looking at the above figures people might remember the German proverb:—Don't cry herring before you catch his tail.

There are already signs of 'epidemia' in the South.

Have there any trees been planted for shelter after the severe lesson of the 15th September last?

Has the Government made any channels or regulated the current at the mouth of the Salado river to avoid inundations like in 1877?

Nothing of the kind has been done, although such measures would be very efficient to increase the value of our paper money. A law, making the cure of the scab obligatory, the prohibition of the slaughtering of cows with calf in the saladeros, an improved system of marking cattle, &c, would do the same; meanwhile the opening of the 'Oficina de Cambios' "pour la gloire", with borrowed money and thereby increasing the interests and amortizations, will have the reverse effect.

El Viernes 19 de Agosto

Procederemos a la venta en remate publico a la mas alta postura y dinero de contado, por orden y cuenta de los Srs Ocampo Hermanos, un selecto lote de Moruecos Negretes sangre pura.

Repetiremes aqui algunos datos que hemos publicado en anos anteriores, sobre el origen de estas cabanas por considerarlos importantes para los senores ovejeros amantes a esta bellisima raza.

La cabaña que es hoy propiedad de los Srs. Ocampo, fue adquirida por esos senores en el ano 1876 cuando fue vendido por nosotros en remate publico por cuenta y orden de los Srs. Eduardo Olivera y hermanos, que entonces eran considerados como los mejores criadores en la raza Negrete, habiendo fundado la cabana en el ano 1868 con animales elegidos personalmente por el Sr Don Eduardo Olivera en sus viajes por Alemania, observando el sistema mas perfecto de apareamiento, teniendo su orijen de los rebanos de Hochitz (Austria) que como se sabe es la base del verdadero Negrete. Mas tarde en 1865 introdujo bellisimos animales de la misma raza, procedentes de la cabana Modengin, cuya majada ha sido reputada como la mas perfecta y bella, por criadores afamados.

Los rindes de los carneros padres de esta cabana son de 24 a 28 lib., siendo el de las ovejas de 14 hasta 20 lib. por vellon, rinde extraordinario y que solamente se obtiene a fuerza de escrupulosidad que los Srs Ocampo tienen para el aparejamiento de su majada, siguiendo el mismo sistema establecido por su fundador y como es consiguiente renovando la sangre introduciendo los mejores carneros padres de la misma raza que han pedido encontrar en Alemania.

Son pues de este origin los 20 carneros que ofrecemos en venta cuya edad es de 16 a 20 meses de edad, con lana de de diez meses, habiendo entre ellos animales de alta reserva,

Los carneros podran examinarse en nuestra casa Alsina 78, cinco dias antes del remate.

PARIS LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

July 4th.

How does it arise that England has so many colonies, and on the whole so prosperous, while France has so few and not prosperous at all? The commonplace reply is generally, that England possesses, and France does not possess, the genius for colonization. This is not altogether the explanation, and approaches too much the Moliere description of the dormitive power of opinion, because the drug possesses the virtue of producing sleep. The French are not less intelligent, less industrious, or less saving than other peoples; where they settle down in foreign lands, they succeed as well as other sojourners. Formerly they owned extensive colonies, won by dash, daring, and adventure, but lost by reliance on militarism, and political intrigues at home. These remarks apply to France up to 1789. But since 1 30, why have not the possessions she rules over flourished? The cause is to be found in the fact, that the Government delegates its autocracy to an admiral or general, who in turn favors only officers belonging to both branches of the service, whose interest is to keep out free and independent emigrants, that might cause danger to the temple of Ephesus, by revealing to the natives the true commercial value of their productions. Doubtless too, Monsieur is loth to quit the mother country, but he cannot exactly be wholly condemned for displaying so little enthusiasm for his own colonies, where he is aware nothing propitious tempts: they are closed boroughs for the general public, and even limited guilds for the army and navy. It would not to be too much to state, French colonies are not made for the French, and apparently exist in order that France may pay for their maintenance. The 'ring' tolerates a few colonists, perhaps to justify the existence of the colonies.

To reform this state of things, the Republic has organised the new civil regime in Algeria, where something like local Government was to be the basis, and the military element confined, not to administrative but to defensive duties. The happy change has nearly been ruined, owing to the thorough incapacity of the first civil Governor, Grevy, and brother of the President. He has applied none, it may be said, of the necessary reforms; he has been living in a Sleepy Hollow, assuring France all was serene, till the insurrection broke out and stunned the nation by its successful audacity. It is useless referring to the debate on Algeria just closed, where Governor Grevy escaped condemnation by a scratch majority of 16, and this, because Ministers threatened to retire, and hinted the possibility of the President's resignation, two blunders to be avoided at all costs on the eve of the general elections, although the menace of a ministerial resignation once a month is as much to be expected as a new moon.

If any person ought to be excused laughing at the debate, it is certainly Bou-Amena as he sits smoking under his tent, with mountains of loot, and four hundred captured French and Spanish colonists. It is lamentable, but true, and confessed by the Minister of War, that Bou-Amena passed with his booty and his captives, under the moustaches of the French troops and the folds of the tricolor: that the troops were too few and unready to undertake pursuit, of a foe, who is described as possessing 'the legs of a camel and the wings of a bird.' Oh for a touch of that vanished hand, Lamoriciere. The Spaniards continue to fly Algeria, which is unfortunate, as they formed the back-bone of the successful emigration.

M. Lockroy, Victor Hugo's half son-in-law, and a Deputy, has created a sensation, the more so as he is an ardent republican, by announcing the growing evil of representatives having interests in certain companies, and making certain public works be executed, in the end to favor these speculations. A Colbert to the rescue, to husband, as well as defend, the nation's farthings.

Italy continues to be sore and silent towards France, and Spain irritated in presence of her massacred emigrants in Algeria. Bismarck, however, does not withold his smiles Between France and Turkey there is a cloud, the size of a man's hand, on the political horizon. The Sultan intends to take up position in Tripolitania, as a check on the proceedings of France in Tunisia, and so cause endless worry and anxiety in Algeria. Indeed some papers already discount a possible war between the two countries.

Meanwhile some patriots demand urgent measures for securing a more important footing for France in Egypt, where her star, it is said, has been on the decline since 1870. The Egyptians then learned for the first time that she had been conquered, and by a Power to them till then unknown: to obtain money she had to sell the Suez Canal to England; they believe that very soon a grandson of the Empress of India will be their Viceroy. One fact is established: the English are the masters, but not task ones, of Egypt; they number 700—the French population is 16,000—and are the 'chefs' in every public department, in addition to having the monopoly of all the great industrial establishments. The French are merely the hewers of wood and drawers of water, and are in a fair way to be elbowed out of the Valley of the Nile.

'Our comet' continues to be very popular; if its unexpected appearance has diminished faith in prophetic almanacs, which never predicted its coming, it is not the less welcome, as it has brought, if not in its train, at least in its tail, the prospects of a splendid vintage and a brilliant harvest. As a consequence of these good times coming, people are in excellent spirits, and many have resolved to indulge in the extravagance this season of undertaking a tour—outside France. Less venturesome individuals are prepared to club for pic-nics, provided the spread be within hearing of the big Tom of Notre Dame. To be joyful is the dominant note of the situation. There are economists who shake their heads like oracles, and pretend that if the treaties of commerce be not executed, with some countries at all events, the consumers will be ruined. If matters do not fall as low as this, the protectionists at all events will be enriched; but in time, when found out, fair, if not free traders, will make them pay dear for their whistle.

The Comet, too, appears to be the friend of the cabmen; it has not only appeared in the sign 'Cocher,' but arrived at a moment when a transaction is possible between irritated citizens and the tribes of Jehus. Cabby has a great many sins to answer for: he is too often as unfindable as a Kroumir, as independent as a Boer, as insolent as nasty people in general, and not at all up in his Chesterfield. Circumstances make Cabby; he is the victim of a sweating system, as if he does not make a fixed sum per day for his employers, he must seek the balance in his own pocket. Naturally he is forced to speculate, to select and to reject applications for his cab, if he be on the run and no policemen be in sight. The screw is put on him, and he puts it on the public. The law is a dead letter in so far as it does not compel cabs to travel at a fair pace, or owners to have respectable vehicles and horses more suited for boiling down than between the shafts of a cab. It is not fair to fix one franc and a half as the hire for a trap to convey you the length of a street to be up to time, or to go across the whole city, say four miles. Only two solutions are possible; a time rate of three sous per five minutes, or a fixed tariff per mile, all tips to be abolished. Such an arrangement might enable cab-men and their victims to live till the millennium.

Much sympathy is shown for the position of Midhat Pasha, even by those creditors who lost their all by the mad extravaganees of the 'suicided' Abdul Aziz. Midhat during his exile resided some time in Paris, and it was his favourite theme to observe; whethers a banished or a favourite, he never felt that his head was very secure on his shoulders. Is is to be hoped that influences will be brought to bear in time to prevent the ex-Premier being put in sack and corded, thrown from a Seventh Tower into the Bosphorus, with a ticket addressed to all mariners—'Laissez-passer la justice du Sultan.'

In the land of the Cypress and Myrtle, it is to be hoped the rage of the vulture and the love of the turtle will on the present occasion melt into sorrow. Perhaps if all the political prudes at Constantinople were put on their trial, few would escape a whipping. When the murdered Sultan borrowed right and left, to ornament the shores of the Bosphorus with enormous palaces built in the most profound bad taste, and to fill their salons and corredors with all kinds of animals wild as well as tame, he gave little thought to the numbers he killed by squandering their loans and provoking national bankruptcies. It has been calculated, that for every twenty francs loaned to Abdul-Aziz, not more than one net arrived in his strong box. The officials prigged en route; true, the Koran assured him, wherever he places his foot that ground became his property: the religious pachas knew this so well, that whenever this sovereign paid them a visit, the first thing they did was to send away their treasure to the safe keeping of a third party; consequently where there was nothing the Sultan lost his right. A pacha who bought a pair of curtains in Paris for 500 frcs, sold them to his master for 50,000 frcs. Another made 1,000 per cent out of dromedaries, and one three tailed functionary, as poor as a Turkish civil service clerk, was able to retire from business from the profits he realized in the sale of a petty elephant which performed on a trumpet.

In Paris nothing exists for a long time. Consul Maccio, who caused so much trouble in Tunis, was outinterested by the lady racing pedestrians at the Hippodrome: the rows at Marseilles were eclipsed by the circus marvels of the performer Loisset; the battle of the Scrutin de liste occupies not even the attention of the surviving pensioners of Waterloo at the Invalides, and the storm brewing at Tripoli will be as speedily forgotten as the umbrella of Louis Philippe or the 'bons mots' of Tallyerand. A Sevigne despatch from the Foreign Minister Saint-Hilaire will calm perturbed spirits; witness his epistle to the Germans, where he so successfully rubbed Bismarck down the grain.

Since M Dufaure left no work behind him to point a moral or adorn a tale, his disappearance at 83 years of age has created neither a national gap nor caused a tear to flow. At his funeral, the celebrities of all politics were present, the best testimony to his having served them all in due course. Perhaps it is down right politeness which explains why so many eminent Frenchmen are, politically, everything by turns and nothing long. As a lawyer Dufaure was a very hard worker, lived austerely, and was a stranger to pride, and so had no occasion to ape humility.

A man who has lately celebrated his golden wedding, gives many reasons for not only taking, but what is equally important now a days, keeping a wife: she is a comfort, a capital kitchen utensil; we keep to her by habit, like an old arm chair that we expect to find on returning home; she is more economical than the best domestic: we keep her too from feelings of 'amour propre,' as we do not like the world to notice we have made a bad choice, a love of ease prevents our sending her into the wilderness, because a separation causes so much trouble and a little scandal; imitation, because others take a wife; philosophy because she embodies all philosophies; the best of all motives or reasons for remaining attached to a wife, is because you love her.

The Ambassador of the Bey of Tunis, now doing Paris, is an ex-barber, he has the look of a close-shaver indeed; his favorite journal is the Figaro.

'Journalists to let or hire,' is the annotation written on a notice, in the lobby of the Chamber of Deputies, from a Syndicate, offering to provide able electoral editors for the country.

Monsolet writes, that he passed his first Sunday well in London; he remained in bed, bought a bible, and laid in a stock of bread, butter and tea.

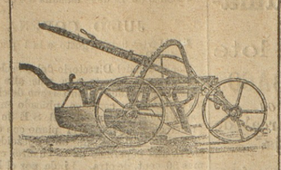
HOWARD'S CELEBRATED PLOUGHS

Howard's Double Plough.



The above implement effects great economy in the time and cost of ploughing, and its success has been very marked wherever it has been introduced. The depth of work can be regulated by the lever as the plough proceeds, and at the ends, the plough is lifted by the same lever clear off the ground.
The implement is so strongly constructed hat in the hands of Kaffirs it cannot readily be injured.

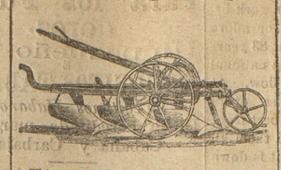
Howard's Triple Plough.



This is similar in construction to the preceding implement, but made to take three furrows. It may at once be converted into a Double Plough by the removal of the hinder body, and this is sometimes desirable on ground where the draught is heavy.

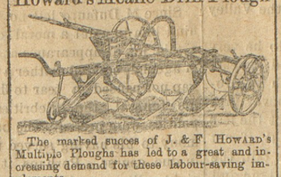
Howard's Mealie Drill Plough



The marked succes of J. & F. Howard's Multiple Ploughs has led to a great and increasing demand for these labour-saving implements.
In addition to the economy effected by their use in time and wages, their usefulness has been materially increased by the addition of a simple drill which deposits the seed in the middle furrow, where it is immediately covered with the earth raised by the next plough share.
By this means the cost of sowing is avoided, and no seed is wasted by being exposed to birds or vermin, nor is it trodden by the draught cattle. The seed is moreover sown at a uniform width and depth, and thus a regular growth of the crop is insured.
